It was the most frightening experience of my life.
It was summer day. Me and my friends watched a film on TV about animals and nature. And my friend Jack said, "this film is really interesting and educational. I offer to make a film about life of bears. What do you think about it?" I liked this idea and my friends too. Because Jack's job is an operator on TV. He is stubble and has brown hair. He knows how to work with camera. We decided to set the camera on a field at night time to watch how bears would react to it.
Next day I called my friend Tom who is an actor and he knows how to speak to viewers will be interested. So we all took our cameras and went to the field to check. Jack turned the camera on and started to make a video of Tom's story. His mood was overwhelmed and we remade it many times. And then we looked at Tom and this time he told really great. But one moment his complexion changed. It was paler than usually. He stopped talking. I asked, "what's wrong, Tom?" He didn't answer, he just ran. We turned back and saw a bear. And there wasn't time to think, we ran. In conclusion I want to say that it was intt cate but we did it. Our agility saved us!
